INSIDER CLUB

The first film for the club year of 2015 comes with new stories from the world of large and small railroads. Märklin has been supporting the reconstruction of 01 519 and we have had a look at the ongoing process in Rottweil. Steam operation has also been part of the club trip to Hungary where quaint little engines can still be found running on historic branch lines. Steam engines are also appreciated by an American 1-gauge enthusiast who likes to operate them on his garden railroad. Fans of the H0-gauge will especially enjoy a report on the Märklin-World in Titisee and a tutorial about how to install the new semaphores. Last but not least, we paid a visit to the Falk Adler company. This company specializes in scrap metal recycling and inspired the museum cars for 2015.
